

Certificate IV in Facilitation – Schedule 2010

Facilitation skills are by far the most valuable skills for leading any kind of group communication, problem solving, or decision making. Facilitation has become a critical and powerful method of leadership, especially in organisations that rely on input and commitment from all employees.

Leaders, team leaders, managers, trainers, facilitators, will benefit from the concepts, tools, methods, and information provided in this program. Whether working in cross-organisational settings or cross-functional teams, negotiating sales contract, designing and leading meetings, resolving conflict, or collaborating one-on-one, professionals benefit greatly when they are skilled in facilitation.
